Washington, June 20.—Secretary Daniels called the entire membership of the federal trade commission into conference today and requested them to ascertain whether it is possible to prevent production of all basic raw materials entering into the manufacturing of munitions or power for the navy.

Washington, June 20.—Government pools of coal production and distribution and of rail and water transportation were recommended today by the federal trade commission as the only means of avoiding a disastrous coal shortage next winter.

"The commission believes," says the report submitted after many months of investigation ordered by congress, "that the coal industry is paralyzing the industries of the country and the coal industry itself is paralyzed by the failure of transportation. There are enough coal cars in the country, but not enough are delivered to the mines and these cars are not moved to the point of consumption with greatest expedition, nor are they promptly discharged."

FASHIONABLE NEWPORT ATTACKED BY DANIELS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, June 20.—Sensational charges that naval recruits at the Newport, R. I., training station are exposed to open gambling houses, immoral resorts and illegal sales of liquor were made by Secretary Daniels today in announcing he had appealed to Governor Beuckman.

In response to a preliminary complaint, the mayor of Newport made a general denial of the charges, saying there was no unusual degree of immorality in the fashionable city. The navy department, with the assistance of agents of the department of justice, thereupon made a separate investigation and as a result Secretary Daniels renewed his complaint to the governor.

Secretary Daniels said today, in announcing his action, "I have just sent to the governor of Rhode Island a list, in detail, of some of the most notorious houses of prostitution and open gambling houses in Newport, also calling his attention to the extent and methods of illegal sale of liquor to sailors and naval recruits and informing him the government is ready to prosecute him with further specific evidence if the state officials do not produce it."

"At Newport and other places are gathered several thousand of the first convicts of the land who have offered their lives for the service of their country at a time when this sacrifice is no figure of speech. Most of them have come from criminal gangs and have been sent to the government to be trained for the navy."

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, June 20.—Red Cross campaign committees in all sections of the country today gathered upon the third day of the week's intensive canvass to raise $100,000,000 of war relief, with more than a third of that sum, or about $35,000,000, pledged already reported to national headquarters here.

COMMITTEE REOPENS ENTIRE MATTER OF TAX ON PUBLISHERS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, June 20.—Taxation of publishers was reopened today by the senate finance committee in refusing war revenue bill. The committee adopted Senator Penrose's motion to reconsider its decision to levy a 10 per cent. tax upon publishers' profits, but reached no decision regarding a substitute.

The committee decided virtually by unanimous consent to reconsider the whole question. Various substitutes were suggested by Senators Smoot, Simmons and LaFollette including an increase in second class postage rates to 1 1/2 cents a pound and an additional graduated tax upon publishers' net profit. Exemption of publishers' profits of $4000 and less also was discussed and seemed generally favored.

A graduated tax of from three to ten per cent. upon profits was proposed by Senator Smoot. Senator LaFollette suggested beginning the tax at five per cent and increasing it to ten, upon large publishers.

Senator Simmons proposed the increase in postage rates be in addition to profit tax plans suggested. After much discussion the committee deferred the decision.

SHORTAGE OF SUGAR IS BECOMING ACUTE IN GERMAN EMPIRE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Copenhagen via London, June 20.—The American controversy over the use of benzene of soda is recalled by the government's recommendation of the German food administration that sugar preservative be used instead of sugar in putting up fruit, fruit juices and marmalade. The amount of sugar allotted for preserving purposes is so small that the use of preservative is necessary.

As occurred last year, fruits have largely disappeared from the open market as soon as the authorities attempted to regulate the prices and are almost unobtainable in Berlin. The potato situation, bad though it is in Berlin, Hamburg and other leading cities, is not so serious as it was in the last three weeks no extra potatoes have been available for workmen engaged in heavy labor. The announcement that there are no potatoes. Several hundred broke into the office of the village president and terrorized him into action.

MRS. PANKHURST IS ENVOY TO PETROGRAD

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Petrograd, June 20.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British suffragist leader, arrived unexpectedly in Petrograd yesterday. She at once called upon the Root commission, conferred at length with Eliliu Root, and discussed what might be done to assist Russia in directing all forces of the new democracy toward the struggle with the common foe. To newspaper correspondents, Mrs. Pankhurst said she had come to Russia to explain to the Russian people the attitude of the British democracy toward the war.

The American railway commission, headed by Petrograd, proposed to make wider examination of Russia's railroad resources than was first contemplated, and a trip through the south is now being considered. It is a state department official, expressed warm appreciation for the work already done by the Americans. He said, "The work of the Americans in Vladivostok was admirable and they are now engaged in planning and putting together the pieces of the puzzle."

British Steamer Elele With $2,000,000
Cargo and Warren Line Ship Torpedoed.—U. S. Destroyers
Save Victims.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
London, June 20.—The weekly list of British ships in torpedoed ships which will be issued today, will show the highest total of many weeks, the number of ships being comparable to the largest amount since the ruthless U-boat campaign began. The returns week by week for the last three months show the U-boat activities run in waves, and it is assumed this week is the crest of a period of superactivity noticed the previous week.

British Steamer Torpedoed.
Boston, June 20.—The sinking of the British steamer Elele, presumably by a German submarine, was reported in a cable message received today by the Leyland line from Captain Pierce, his commander.

The vessel left Boston on June 8, for Manchester, England, with a general cargo. The Elele was under charter to the Leyland line and the cablegram from Captain Pierce merely stated "vessel sunk." Officers of the line said the crew probably had been saved. The ship carried a cargo worth nearly $2,000,000, it was stated.

The Elele registered 4,841 tons gross, and was built at West Hartlepool in 1913.

Warren Line Ship Sunk.
The Warren Line Steamer Bay State, from Boston, May 31, for Liverpool, has been sunk by German submarine. Advice to the company today gave nothing regard the fate of the crew of the steamer.

U. S. Destroyers to Rescue.
The base of the American fleet in British waters, June 20.—Two American destroyers have returned here with eighty survivors of two torpedoed British ships. The response of American destroyers to the sinking of ships was run more than 100 miles.

When the American warships arrived on the scene the ships were gone, and for many hours the destroyers groped about in the dark in search of survivors. The crew of one of the sunken ships, thirty-one in number, was found in one lifeboat, while forty-nine survivors from the second ship were picked up in two small boats. American correspondents were present, having been invited here by the British government.

Promote Admiral Sims.
London, June 20.—Vice Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. naval officer, appointed to take general charge of the operations of the allied naval forces in Irish waters.

Admiral Sims will act in this capacity while the British naval commander in chief is absent from his post for a period, the official announcement of his appointment explains. The British naval commander, meanwhile, has been hoisted as the allied senior officer in these waters.

Standard Accident Company of Detroit, Mich., has taken an appeal from the decision of Judge Grimm in the suit brought by the estate of Dr. Edmund T. Woods, against the company. Judge Grimm held that the company was liable to the amount of $2,500, the face value of the policy for the accidental death of Dr. Woods, who went down when the Arabic was torpedoed by a German submarine in August of 1915. Papers in the case have been forwarded to Madison, by Clerk of the Court Jesse Earle.

Germany Planning to Renew Deportation Of Belgian Civilians

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Havre, June 19.—Information reaching the Belgian government daily from occupied territory confirms the fact officially announced by the Belgian government that the Germans have begun to carry off by force Belgian civilians and compel them to perform works useful to the enemy.

According to forms for classification of inhabitants of Mons prepared by the German authorities and in possession of the Belgian government, Belgians have been divided into five categories: Men from 18 to 40; from 41 to 45; from 46 to 50; from 51 to 55; and from 56 to 60. In each category information must be furnished as to identity of the person, his or her profession and place of employment.

An American having occupied an official position in Ghent, who was recently expelled from Belgium, informed the Belgian government that the German authorities about April 15 demanded of communal administrations new lists of unemployed workmen, members of the middle and upper classes without occupation and persons in regular employment. These facts taken together justify in the opinion of the Belgian authorities the liveliest apprehension as to designs of the enemy.

WORK TO UNCOVER WHITE SLAVE PLOT IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, June 20.—More than 800 girls between the ages of ten and twenty years have disappeared from their homes here since January 1, it transpired today coincident with an announcement by Police Commissioner Arthur Woods that he had ordered begun the most searching inquiry into police conditions since that conducted after the Rosenthal murder.

The police are working on the Ruth Cruger mystery today, continued the efforts to locate persons believed to have been accomplices in the murder of the girl, while inquiry into the failure of the police to find the body and a threatened investigation of white slave traffic of the city were expected to lead to far reaching developments.

Importance is attached to the statement made by the Consul LaRue that she had jumped from a window of her apartment yesterday when two men attacked her because she had given information which resulted in Miss Cruger's body being found. Miss LaRue is said to be in possession of much valuable information regarding white slave traffic and it is reported she is prepared to make revelations almost as startling as those in the Cruger case.

The police received information today that Cecchi had lured other girls to his shop previous to Miss Cruger's disappearance.

PRESIDENT ORDERS WEEK OF RECRUITING

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, June 20.—President Wilson has issued a proclamation setting aside the week of June 23 to June 30 as Recruiting Week for the regular army, during which time an attempt will be made throughout the country to recruit the regulars to full war strength. The president urges all unmarried men to enlist for the period of the war during this week.

This proclamation is probably an intimation that everything possible will be done by the government to secure men for the army before the number of men to be taken by selective draft will be apportioned to the various communities throughout the country.

HOLLWEG HAD ENVOY AT BALTIC CONCLAVE

Copenhagen, June 20.—It transpired that Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg was officially represented at the meeting last week in Berlin of the German Baltic society at which Duke Johan Albrecht of Mecklenburg voiced demands that Baltic provinces and Lithuania must be severed from Russia and colonized by Germany.

Count Von Pourtales, former ambassador to Petrograd, and now head of the department of Russian affairs in the foreign office, was the chancellor's representative.

Behind the British lines in France, Correspondent of the A. P., June 20.—Use of the machine gun as a weapon for offensive operation and for individual fighting has been the subject of bullets will fall into the trenches of the enemy, is one of the recent developments of modern warfare, which convinces the British and American soldiers that the machine gun should be used within the sound of the guns at the front.

This change in the method of using the machine gun has been brought about within a year. It shows, says the correspondent, that the rapidity with which methods of fighting are being altered and if capable officers were to be sent to the front from America, the system they learn might be out of date before the troops they were to teach arrived in France. Less than a year ago the machine gun was regarded primarily as a weapon of direct fire, that is for moving down and attacking the enemy. It was thus chiefly a defensive method and its usefulness was limited to rather rare periods when the enemy was actually attempting to attack.

But today the machine gun, though retaining its importance in this respect, has become still more a weapon of indirect fire, and by far the greater proportion of machine gun casualties are caused by this use of the weapon. In one highly valued type of so-called indirect fire a machine gun is trained by day on a stretch of road or communication which the enemy is using at night for bringing up supplies or reinforcements. The machine gun tripod carefully is adjusted to command this road and stakes are placed so the bullets can be sprayed over the road. Then at night, although the road is invisible, the machine gun is turned on at intervals of perhaps an hour, sweeping the road clear of any enemy supply train that may be there and in effect making the use of that road impossible at night.

As in the case of the machine gun, evolution is constantly in progress in the use of the bayonet, in bombing, in sniping, in sapping, in counter attack. Nowhere, say army officers, can the latest developments of teaching of these specialties be taught as well as in the training camps. The training of the mind for surprises and novelties of the battle field is as important as the physical side of training, say the British authorities.

Iowa Senator in Scathing Attack on Food Gamblers Declares They

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, June 20.—In a vigorous attack upon the administration food control bill in the senate today, Senator Gore, democrat, chairman of the agriculture committee, declared it strikes at the farmer will cause losses to producers this year of $260,000,000 in wheat and $500,000,000 in corn, and result in famine next year through reduced production.

Reduce Prices, Charge.
Senator Gore declared the bill "short sighted policy" and it would result in driving down farmers' prices. "It was drawn by some attorney down at the department of agriculture," he shouted, "but one would think it is in the hand writing of the Diet and that it would be sacrilege to change it."

Senator Gore declared the bill was the "sweepings" of all the British and Canadian food acts of parliament and orders in council.

"They are all strung together in this bill like a lot of beads," he declared. "If congress loses its self-respect in passing this bill unamended, everybody else will lose their respect for congress."

When Senator Gore concluded, Senator Kenyon, republican, spoke in defense of the bill.

Kenyon Defends Bill.
Food speculators were flayed by Senator Kenyon as highwaymen. "One would have thought," he said, "for using the term highwaymen in connection with them," he said. "The highwayman or the sea pirate is a Christian gentleman compared with these fellows. It takes some courage to become a highwayman, but no courage to be a food speculator. These gentlemen at the present time are the allies of the Kaiser."

"They are weakening the American nation in this contest. The men who fight must be fed. The mothers of the nation must be fed. The babies of the nation likewise. The men who do not feed the things to eat with must be fed."

"We have heard something about this bill giving the right to food controllers to tell mothers how much food they shall feed their babies. It does not do that. It takes some courage to just as important as the question of the amount of food a mother shall give a baby, and that is whether the baby shall have any food at all or not. It takes some courage to feed the babies of the poor shall be fed to the poodle dogs of the rich."

"Are the American people going to let the rest of the liberty loving world struggle for its and eventually be stricken down, taking with them in their fall the only barrier that now stands between the Germans and ourselves," asks Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the Red Cross war council and organizer of the campaign to raise $100,000,000 during Red Cross week to be used in general relief work which our armies and the allies of the war zones.

Does America realize that today instead of the sixty-eight million Germans which the allies had to contend with at the opening of the war, Berlin by means of Prussian terrorism methodically and pitilessly employed, disposes of the military and economic resources of one hundred million men? Does America realize that today a strategic position in the center of Europe which is all to her profit, and involving a feudal control of over eighty millions of people which is a democratic civilization is intolerable.

Do those people who are being approached this week for contributions to the Red Cross estimate the strength of the enemy? Do they consider careful estimates and conclusions drawn by men like Andre Cheradame, who for nineteen years has been studying the insidious growth of Pan-Germanism, and a general staff whose before has the Berlin government from a military point of view been so strong, that she maintains an absolute control and unity among the one hundred million people of the empire aligned under her flag, that her nearly levy of soldiers from her vassal countries is greater than her own? Does America realize that she has perfected railroad systems, communication between all parts of the theatre of war which is far superior to anything of the allies, that the Kaiser has a general staff whose exquisite, ruthless efficiency is the envy of military men, that "never have the broad lines of trenches, the far flung battle frontiers, been more powerfully guarded than now. Never have the Germans had more abundant stores of munitions. Never before have they had so much territory from which to draw food, never has the great general staff been better equipped to concentrate on any front with lightning speed."

With the exception of the small pieces of territory in northern France which the allies have recovered, and with the exception of the country around Bagdad recently conquered by the British, the Germans stand today with undisputed domination of Europe and their ruthless Prussian autocracy. And their successes in Europe are but a step to a world empire, including America as a vassal state.

Success of the allies depends upon the fitness of the men at the front, upon the morale engendered by their care, and that is a large part of the work of the Red Cross. The task which the Red Cross now solicits $100,000,000 throughout the country, and $14,000 in Janesville.

Madison, Wis. June 20.—The Whitet central board of education bill was concurred in by the assembly today, 67 to 23, after a long debate. The measure, passed in a message to the senate, was passed by the assembly, and provides for a state board of education of nine members.

The bill appropriating $37,200 for the biennial period and authorizing the university to conduct investigation and demonstration work in stumppulling in northern Wisconsin, was passed.

The most important amendments accepted are those reducing the open season for ducks proposed in the bill from September to Dec. 10, extending the time for the muskrat season opens October 25 instead of November 1, and carp may be taken from Lake Koshkonong all but fifteen days in the year.

STATE IN CAMPAIGN TO GET 2,000 MEN FOR REGULAR ARMY

Madison, Wis. June 20.—A campaign to enlist 2,000 men for the regular army has been started in forty-five counties in Wisconsin, and the date set for the competition of this work is July 1.

The work will be in charge of Lieut. J. W. McNeal, who has been detailed from the Chicago recruiting district to take charge of the Wisconsin campaign. He will be assisted by Adjutant General Holway of the National Guard and by the state council of defense.

Wisconsin thus far has made an enviable record during the war. Wisconsin was the first state to send in the report of registration day. The state has nearly filled its quota required in 1916. The national guard is up to war strength and the one thing remaining now is to enlist the quota for the regular army and the other departments of the federal government.

Wisconsin wants 2,000 men to be red-blooded Americans who want to fight. While the nation will need many recruits for the clerical branches of the army, the first requirement is for 2,000 fighting men. Of these 2,000 must come from Wisconsin.

If every county sends 50 men, the quota will be met. The state council of defense, enlisting the service of the county councils to make the campaign a success.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Washington, June 20.—The peaceful picketing of the White House grounds by silent pickets, in the suffrage cause, led to the first disorder today when a crowd of angry men tore down banners the women were holding for the Russian mission to see when it visited President Wilson.

The rumpus was over before the police got on the scene, and no arrests were made. The banners were inscribed: "President Wilson and Envoy Root are deceiving Russia. They say 'we are a democracy,' help us with a world war so that democracy may survive."

"We, the women of America, tell you that America is not a democracy. Twenty million women are denied the right to vote. President Wilson is the chief opponent of their national enfranchisement. Help us make this nation really free. Tell our government that it must liberate its people before it can claim free Russia as an ally."

Banners attracted groups of men passing, who stopped and discussed them. Finally discussion gave way to action.

Cries of "traitors, treason," and "they are the enemies of their country," were shouted at the two women holding the banners, and after one man yelled, "Let's tear it down," the crowd turned forward. The canvas was torn from its fastenings, leaving the suffragists holding the frames and poles.

CORN SHOWS EFFECTS OF BACKWARD SEASON

CORN CROP IN ROCK COUNTY IS FULLY TWO WEEKS BEHIND AGRICULTURAL AGENT REPORTS.

BEGIN SILO CAMPAIGN

Meetings Will Be Held Throughout the County to Spread Information on Ensilage.—Canning Clubs Formed.

Rock county's corn crop is fully two weeks behind, according to Agricultural Agent A. Markham, a condition which can only be remedied by a long spell of favorable growing weather coupled with a late fall to insure maturing of the crop. Despite the handicap of prolonged wet weather, farmers are working early and late to give the crop proper cultivation, so that when the warm days come the soil will be in proper shape to insure quick growth.

"Although the backward season has resulted in late planting and the appearance of the crop is far from what it should be at this date, the situation is not discouraging," Mr. Markham declared, "and with proper growing weather there is a chance that corn will make up for lost time."

The possibility of a late corn crop again this year is an argument in favor of more silos for Rock county in order that the surplus crop may be stored before the frost has been salvaged in such a way as to conserve the highest possible feeding value. Mr. Markham, acting in co-operation with the state of Wisconsin college will inaugurate a silo campaign in the county this week. Meetings will be arranged in different communities which will be addressed by farmers who have had considerable experience in feeding ensilage. A representative from Madison will also be secured to answer technical questions. Silo construction will be taken up as well as the importance of ensilage for feeding and special attention will be paid to the subject of economy. With Rock county forging ahead at a rapid pace in the dairy industry the interest in increasing the number of silos on dairy farms will be aroused to an unusual degree.

The condition of small grains throughout the county is one of good yields, according to Mr. Markham. Weather which has been unfavorable to corn has not retarded growth of oats, spring wheat and barley, all of which shows up with healthy color and a good stand. The acreage of spring wheat in the county has more than doubled this year. It is estimated that there will be fully 3,000 acres of spring wheat harvested in the county. About eight per cent of the spring wheat sold through the state department of agriculture went to Rock county farmers.

Expect short hay crop. There is danger of a short hay crop this year. The acreage is much reduced from last year since much of the need seeding after surviving last winter. Winter wheat, suffering to even a greater extent than winter grains. Clover hay will be a scarce article in this section next fall and the command will be a high price. Old alfalfa fields are in fairly good condition and will soon be ready for the first cutting. New alfalfa seedling also suffered from the hard winter.

Peas being raised for the canning factories and sugar beets are in excellent condition. The fruit crop will probably be short, especially during the summer months. The spring frosts, while many apple orchards suffered from want of spraying.

Organize Canning Clubs. Mr. Markham has been busy for the past several weeks organizing canning clubs and Red Cross circles in different Rock county communities. In a report to the state council of defense, Mr. Markham outlined the progress which has been made. Lectures and canning demonstrations have been held in practically every township. The work will be continued under the supervision of two domestic science experts appointed by Miss Amery, who has the matter of canning and food conservation in charge. The entire state is divided into sections. Carrie Mae Huginin and Miss Elizabeth Fulton, both of whom have volunteered for the work. As garden and fruit crops mature their work will increase.

DENIES HE GOT PURSE LOST ON STREET CAR

Ed. Nichols Says He Knows Nothing Regarding Pocketbook and Money of Mrs. Koebler.

Sophia Koebler, 336 Park street, lost her pocketbook on a Janesville street car Sunday, and a man later gave her a description of another whom he saw pick it up. Monday morning she went to the home of Ed. Nichols, 1306 Sharon street, and told him to give up the purse and the money. Nichols informed Judge H. L. Macfield in municipal court this morning when he appeared to answer to the complaint sworn to by Mrs. Koebler.

Nichols claimed Mrs. Koebler told him she lost twenty dollars, to a neighbor who said twelve, and to the police eleven dollars. The complaint specified the latter amount. Nichols made a complete denial of taking or even seeing the money on the street, and because of his outspoken and frank statements and a desire for further investigation, the case was held open.

The man who gave Mrs. Koebler the description is out of the city. Charles H. Schuller, manager of the Janesville Steam Laundry, Nichols' employer, came into court to vouch for the young man's integrity and wholesome character. Court attaches are of the opinion that the complaining witness has had the wrong person arrested.

450 AT PICNIC OF M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL

Biggest Picnic Ever Held By the School Yesterday at Vost Park. —Enjoy Many Athletic Events.

Four hundred and fifty people, more than twice as many as have ever attended a similar function, gathered at Vost Park yesterday for the annual picnic of the Cargill Memorial Methodist Episcopal Sunday school. From the time the party left for motor and on the interurban until late in the afternoon the great throng was royally entertained by the members of the church who had charge of all arrangements. J. E. Lane, superintendent of the school, was in the dome of the occasion and made it his business to see that none was without amusement during the whole day. To E. E. Van Pool the pioneers extended warm praise for not once during the day did the supply of ice cream and lemonade furnished by the church and dispensed under the direction of Mr. Van Pool, being exhausted.

Late in the afternoon Miss Elizabeth Amery of the University of Wisconsin, assisted by County Agent Markham gave a canning demonstration and a talk on food conservation to about fifty ladies. It is likely that members of the church will organize a girls' canning club as a direct result of the demonstration.

Besides the supervised swimming both in the morning and afternoon, an endless succession of field events for the great spread served at long tables at noon, and in the afternoon helped to settle the hearty dinner. There follows a list of the winners in the various events:

100 yard dash for young men—1st, Howard; 2nd, Waldman.
50 yard dash for girls, 8-11—1st, Miss Getchell; 2nd, Miss Ward.

Baseball—Captain Gardner's team beat Captain Waldman's team 18 to 11 in five inning game.

The Reverend P. F. Lewis acted as umpire in the ball game, and decisions of the fans handed down decisions as indisputable in their verity as his lessons from the pulpit. E. G. Owens and J. E. Nichols won the applause of the bestowers by their stellar work on the diamond.

ISABEL S. MACLEAN ENLISTS FOR DUTY IN HOSPITAL UNIT

Will Go to France on Staff of Milwaukee Base Hospital.—Active in All Relief Work.

Isabel S. MacLean of the Michaelis apartments, has enlisted in the Milwaukee base hospital and is now awaiting call for service in France as one of six office clerks which the unit carries to the war zone. Miss MacLean has for some time been most active in Red Cross and other branches of relief work, and caps her long activity in this line by enlisting for active war duty. She has passed all examinations and has taken the oath as a member of the hospital staff. It is not yet known when the Milwaukee hospital will be organized and sent abroad, but as their organization has been completed and the muster roll sent to Washington, it is the belief that the unit will be one of the next to leave for France.

Since the opening of the war Miss MacLean has recognized her responsibility to a large extent, and has made many sacrifices for the war sufferers with true altruism. Recently she donated four hundred dollars for sending an ambulance driver to the front in the American division of the French ambulance service. She has given much to the Red Cross for general relief work, and recently spent considerable time in Rockford securing magazine subscriptions, turning over $25.00 to the Red Cross society.

Another phase of her generosity has found expression in her caring for Belgian orphans. For some time she has cared for the little Belgian children, left destitute and without parents by the atrocious ruthlessness of the German occupation. It is believed that Miss MacLean is the first Janesville woman to enlist for any active war service, though she represents one of several local people who will be in hospital work at the front. Dr. Frank W. Van Kirk has received a captain's commission in the medical reserve corps, but as yet has not been assigned to any hospital. Dr. Mann, Father and Louis Hays in the Red Cross have Janesville's representation in the relief work is a large one.

RAN DOWN TURKEY AND TOOK IT AWAY

Two in Car Kill Bird, Load it in Car and Continue on Way.

Frank Biensch, a farmer living on the George Gray farm, south of Janesville, today believes that somebody aside from having a shiny, new five-passenger auto, has a great big heavy turkey, a thirty-five pounder. Yesterday morning the national bird was sighted. Down on the road was found a pile of feathers and marks showing when an auto slid after a sudden stop. Then Mr. Biensch's turkey was found. He saw the machine come to a halt, stand for a few moments and later continue south. It is surmised that the auto-killed the turkey and carried it along with them. The occupants are described as an old man with a black stiff hat, and a young fellow with a soft, brown hat.

PETITION TO OUST JOHN MCGRAW FROM NATIONAL PASTIME

Out in Cincinnati one of the men who witnessed the combat between John McGraw and Casper Byron has headed a petition for the removal of "McGrawism" from the National League. He plans to send his list of signatures to President John K. Tener.

Just what this for means by McGrawism is uncertain, but the fact that he started his petition after the episode that resulted in Byron's knockout is sufficient evidence that he dislikes the fight part of the game. McGraw says he was.

The truth of "McGrawism" is that it is a good thing for baseball. The fight part of it, of course, isn't, but there are few men, including the Cincinnati fan, who would have listened to Byron calmly if insulted as McGraw says he was.

John McGraw undoubtedly is one of the finest figures in baseball. Not only is he a successful leader, a tough general, but his personality and shrewdness makes him sought out by many, many times for advice on the big questions of baseball. He is level-headed enough to hold his temper at most times. The fact that he did hit Byron should be sufficient to convince anyone who knows McGraw that Byron went a step too far.

McGraw was a fighter when he was a baseball player. His hot temper made him the target for taunts and rough playing in later years, however, he has been able to hold down the fire. He was pushed to the limit at Cincinnati.

A baseball club without a spirit such as that McGraw throws into his players is lacking in the most essential part. A man who won't fight for the best of it in baseball automatically drops from public sight. A spirit of exhibition, of course, is a bad thing, and fighting spirit, as it is meant in a game, doesn't consist of right crosses and left hooks. It consists of a dash and vigor that know no truce. That's the way the Cincinnati fan has been playing ball.

It appears the Cincinnati fan has been playing ball.

It appears the Cincinnati fan has been playing ball.

In the Coast league they have a rule that one umpire shall be on the grounds an hour before the game starts and take charge of the batting practice and see that the visiting team gets an even break. Complaint has been made that the umpires, hired to enforce the rule, have themselves violated this rule and that seldom is an umpire seen on the grounds until the last minute before game time. It's an awful hard job for umpires working two hours a day and doubtless they concluded they could not stand the strain of reporting early.

MORRIS MILLER

At West Point there is the strongest desire to have athletics of all kinds resumed, and a petition is to be addressed to Secretary Baker of the war department urging that permission be granted for the Army to put a football team on the field. This same attitude prevails in Pennsylvania, Cornell, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Washington and Jefferson, and practically all of the other colleges of the east. Cornell, despite the fact that Dr. Al Sharpe, the football director, is striving for a commission in the reserve officers' training corps at Madison barracks, will take up football again, and Ray Van Orman and Dan Reed will be the coaches. Syracuse has voted to go through with its full schedule in so far as that is possible, and Pennsylvania will do the same.

Yale is just as uncertain as Harvard as to just what it will do, while Princeton is in the same boat, although the Tigers are planning to play through a sub-schedule season with prep school elevens as their opponents if the sport is not restored on an intercollegiate basis.

There is bound to be plenty of activity among the western conference colleges, for one by one they are rescinding the action they took on the spur of the moment when war was declared on Germany and "abandoned all athletics for the duration of the war."

With the return of the University of Michigan to the "Big Nine" and the fact that the Hurry Up Yost & Co. will be back in the fold they once loved, the western conference will have to be enlarged to the "Big Ten."

At the recent meeting of the central board of football officials held at the Hotel Biltmore, New York, Harvard was the one institution which stood out firmly against appointing the officials for the 143 games of the schedule for next season. The subject had been tentatively arranged subject to approval by the board, but Harvard blocked every effort to take definite action, and the board adjourned until after the August meeting of the N. C. A. A.

Only a few days ago the athletic council at the University of Wisconsin adopted a resolution calling for the resumption of athletics, beginning with football, in the fall. Otherwise, much as the University of Minnesota now remains the only member of the "Big Ten" which has a ban on intercollegiate sports. This will probably be lifted shortly and then we can all look forward to some hectic battles between the "Big Nine" and the new member that makes it the "Big Ten," namely, Michigan.

Why do they all fight shy of Jack Dunn? Now here's Pitcher Ellis Johnson, released to the Baltimore Orioles, who has been in the army, refused to go and said he would join the army first. Last spring Ed Appleton got so mad when he learned he was to play for Dunn that he threatened to kick all the officials of the Brooklyn club. And then there was Bill Morrisette, who preferred a Class D berth to going to Baltimore.

Edgerton News

MORRIS MILLER

Edgerton, June 20.—The paving that is under construction on Washington street is progressing in a satisfactory manner. T. P. Farley, of the construction company, who has the work in charge, was in communication with the officials of the St. Paul railroad company the first of the week, and the information that they would be unable to furnish any more cars for sand and gravel from the Janesville pits after Washington street was completed, will take several more cars to finish this street. Upon being informed that no more material could be shipped from Janesville owing to the shortage of cars, City Engineer Reichardt and Mr. Moore, engineer for the construction company, together with the city officials made a trip to the Tonvont pits north of the city to investigate the quality of gravel at these pits, and as a result of their investigation the remainder of the street improvements will be made from material from these pits. A new crusher and grader, electrically operated, has been installed at the pit and the work on the streets will be rushed to completion.

The Nation wide movement to raise $100,000,000 for the Red Cross this week found Edgerton people more than anxious to do their bit. The city was divided into sections and committees placed in charge of each district. According to population, Edgerton's share of the fund was $8,000. The first day the efforts of the committees netted $2,356 and after the returns were in last evening from yesterday's contributions the amount was swelled to $3,226. There are, however, quite a number yet to be called upon, and when the final contributions are in the amount collected will be considerably increased. Edgerton is responding most loyally to all the calls from the government, the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., and stands ever ready to do her bit.

Edgerton today is a Madison business. The second bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Will McIntosh this afternoon.

D. D. MAYNE FATHERS FARM BOYS' SOCIETY

FORMER SUPERINTENDENT OF
JANESVILLE SCHOOLS AIDS
ORGANIZATION OF CAVALLIERS.

IS SIMILAR TO SCOUTS

Service, Thrift, Honor and Loyalty
Are Cardinal Principles of the Members.

D. D. Mayne, principal of the school of agriculture at the University of Minnesota, is the principal of the organization of the Farm Boy Cavaliers of America, a society which is calculated to do for the boys on the farms what the Boy Scouts are doing for the boys of the cities.

An article in "The Continent," one of the publications of the Presbyterian church, by Edith Brown Kirkwood, pays a high tribute to Professor Mayne's zeal in this commendable enterprise.

"Mr. Mayne has made a close study of the boys who come from the rural districts and who go back again from the schools into the rural districts. He has watched them come and go, come, and go, and come, and go, and he has seen them grow up with a new light in their eyes and a new earnestness in their carriage. Some years ago he came to the conclusion that increased book knowledge could not do for the boys what the life of the farm could do for them. Much of it was due to mingling with other boys. The school life provided the friendship which the isolated farm life could not give. Yet only a small percentage of farm boys reached the larger schools.

"Mayne instituted a series of experiments in organization. But out of the experiments came a new idea, alluring to the average boy to whom the lakes, the wood, the rivers were everyday companions. Far less did the hike appeal to the boy whose daily life is spent in the open country, over fields and open country. The boy of the farm needed variety as well as friends. Yet he must not be permitted to lose his love for the country. It needed him.

"To Mr. Mayne it became clear that the problems of the country boys were peculiar to themselves and if they were to be solved they needed a method of their own. He gave the idea of a fraternal organization which would intensify the boy's love for the open country, urge them to further development of the country life and chance for friendships so largely monopolized by the city boy. The only fault to be found with this mental organization was that the boy still needed a physical outlet.

"Then one evening there came to Mr. Mayne something akin to an inspiration! All farm boys love horses, know how to care for them and, after a certain age, usually own one. Never yet had he met a farm boy who was not proud of his steed. King Arthur and his knights and their principles were to be the models for the farm boys. Why not place the boys on mounts and give them 'honor' on pilgrimages which might lead to sight-seeing visits to noted farms which might become agricultural shrines? The boys should be mounted. They should become the Farm Boy Cavaliers. That gave them something new and something their own. Likewise it enabled farm boys to gather from greater distances for a common purpose and widened the field of friendships.

"It did not take long to put the idea to work. Last spring Mr. Mayne began with a school group of boys and organized the first troop of Farm Boy Cavaliers at the school of agriculture, University of Minnesota. The response from Minnesota was immediate, and in addition to the local troops scattered through Iowa, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Ohio, Montana, Tennessee and Missouri.

"The organization is not complicated. Four or more boys may get together and form a troop. They meet on horseback. The official board consists of a leader, an assistant leader, a secretary and a treasurer. He takes for his principles four words: service, thrift, honor, loyalty. Service embodies willing assistance wherever that assistance is needed; thrift means to follow, being but to animals' defense of the loyal and kindly protection to all needing aid. Thrift he adopts as 'Industry plus the common sense which gives the world its balance between the wasteful and the greedy.' Honor recognizes as an individual and a world asset. The world needs men in whom it can place trust. The Farm Boy Cavalier proposes to be of this world. He is loyal to his country, to his country, for he knows that only through loyalty of its people can a country reach its highest service to the world; loyalty to his state, for that is a part of the country's loyalty to his community; for the community builds the state; loyalty to himself, for he is a part of the community, and loyalty to his God, for he is taught, that is the keystone of manhood. This represents the Farm Boy Cavaliers' 'creed'.

FIRST HOURS OF BIG DRIVE ENCOURAGING

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN FOR $14-
000 IN CITY GETS GOOD START
WHEN OVER $1,000 IS
TIME.

SECURE $500 AN HOUR

Will Name Women's Team to Aid in House to House Canvass of Entire City.

Team No. 1, headed by Joseph M. Connors, leads the teams in the amount secured in the first two hours of the drive. The team has secured $1,000, which is Janesville's share of the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund campaign, with a total reported shortly after the close of the drive. M. J. Connors, captain, reporting $133 for the same time, is second, while individual subscriptions secured by Campaign Manager, S. Nolan, bring the total for the first two hours of the campaign up to $1,032.

The rate at which the first thousand dollars was subscribed is regarded as most encouraging by the Red Cross members, practically no case were the canvassers disappointed and the bulk of subscriptions secured were equal to or better than the $250 apiece were secured by Mr. Nolan. The teams will report the extent of the day's activity each day to Red Cross headquarters.

Following the first day's activity, the teams will be forwarded to Washington by telegraph each day. It is believed that the total for the day will be in the neighborhood of $1,000, which would be a record for the city.

In addition to the six committees already named by Campaign Manager S. Nolan, the following were appointed yesterday:

No. 7—H. L. Maxfield, E. H. Peterson, Louis McCarthy, Francis E. Connors and Harry Garbutt.

No. 8—Peter Hammarlund, Victor Hemming, William Langdon, Albert Huebel and Dr. G. B. Thuermer.

No. 9—J. C. Birmingham, with men to be selected at the Janesville Machine company.

No. 10—Victor P. Enright with men to be selected at Hanson Furniture company.

Following a session of the executive committee yesterday afternoon the members of the various teams met at the commercial club and discussed among their number subscription cards for all Janesville people. This morning the teams started active work, though the executive committee spent the day in making a canvass among those people who were expected to give fairly large amounts.

To aid in the house to house canvass the city's women of the Red Cross society are being called into service. A team for each of the wards will be named to round out the work for the rest of the week.

The fact that payments, especially on sums of more than four or five dollars, may be made in four monthly installments, has been a big factor in bringing out donations of considerable amount. Receipts are made out for each contributor, and where it is desired the amount to be paid on the first of each month for the next three months is noted for further collection.

Slides have been secured to be shown in the local movie theatres, and it is probable that speakers will deliver addresses wherever possible later in the week.

The work throughout the county is progressing even more rapidly than in the city. Edgerton is ready to expect to run far in excess of their allotment. Fulton reports great success in subscriptions, and this morning a letter from Fulton reports that they had secured more than $1,000 in subscriptions. Milton Junction announces greater results than had been anticipated and has organized five teams to carry the work in that section.

Reports from all through the rural districts indicate that Rock county will do its part in the campaign.

The president has called upon the people of the country to make a sacrifice, said H. S. Lovejoy this morning. "A donation is not a matter of charity; it is duty, and it should be met. If you can't fight, give."

WINS FIRST PLACE IN COUNTY CONTEST

He was presented with a three hundred dollar diploma, and a $100 diploma for his district for one year, at the rural school graduation exercises at the high school at Edgerton.

One hundred and ten graduates of the rural schools were presented with diplomas at the afternoon exercises by County Superintendent O. D. Antisdell. The certificates entitle them to enter any high school in the county at the next fall term.

Charles Harper of the state superintendent's office and Superintendent H. H. Faust of this city addressed the young people, their parents and friends. Much of the exercises were furnished by the glue club of the county training school.

Your Flag and Mine

"The American flag has never surrendered on the sea. One of the earliest ships to fly the Stars and stripes was the Bon Homme Richard, a made-over merchantman on Sept. 17, 1776.

By the British frigate Serapis. When the Richard was a mass of flames and sinking Capt. John Paul Jones was asked, 'Has your ship struck?' 'I have not yet begun to fight,' came the answer.

Later John Paul Jones had the satisfaction of seeing the first British man-of-war strike her colors to the flag of the United States.

MANY OLD ALUMNI AT MILTON COLLEGE FOR COMMENCEMENT

Alumni Day Exercises Today Expressive of Patriotism and Loyalty to the Alma Mater.

Patriotism and an expression of the country's responsibilities were mingled with the tributes of the old grads at Milton college today, when several hundred old Milton students gathered at their Alma Mater to take part in the Alumni Day of the Jubilee commencement program. The exercises for the day were opened with a meeting for the alumni this morning and addresses were made by many of the former students, and the development of the college during the fifty years of its life was held up for the praise which it has merited in the education of its graduates.

At half past ten patriotic services and a flag raising were held on the campus. Captain W. P. Clark, civil war veteran, presided over the ceremonies. Professor H. C. Curtis, Waupun gave war reminiscences of the days of '61 to '65; Professor Fred I. Babcock, superintendent of schools at Kaukauna, delivered an address; B. J. Curtis of Milton spoke of patriotism at home; George Greenman of Milton Junction, who is in training at the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan, spoke on "Present Day Patriotism"; and J. C. Barthol of Milwaukee, talked on the "Red Cross, Its Aims and Its Needs." Henry Osborne of Milton led the assembly in the singing of "Rally Around the Flag."

Following the exercises a number of group pictures were taken of the old grads, and the audience gathered in the gymnasium where Dr. E. S. Bailey, president of the Alumni Association, introduced President W. C. Daland, who made an address of welcome to the alumni and guests of the college, and in Milton for their college anniversary commencement.

The response was made by Mrs. Lulu Spicer Belknap of Waukesha who paid a beautiful tribute to the school and expressed the love which all the old students hold for the institution.

Following a luncheon the alumni held their annual business session and election of officers, and at four o'clock the alumni gathered on the historic pageant symbolizing the fifty years' life of the college. Over two hundred people took part in the pageant, which had been carefully planned and rehearsed in honor of the guests.

At half past six all the alumni will gather for the annual Fellowship dinner, to be held in the gymnasium. After which there will be an evening of speeches, songs and songs. More alumni are expected back for the commencement day program which will be given tomorrow.

SENIOR PROM PROVES WONDERFUL SUCCESS

The Senior Prom given by a committee of graduates of the 1817 senior class at Apollo hall last evening, proved a wonderful success. Upward from eighty-five couples were in attendance.

Wheeler's four-piece orchestra of Madison furnished the inspiration, filling the hall with strains of music peppy enough to make old Grandpa, if he had been there, start his feet a-twirling. From the opening number at one o'clock every foot was action, and could hardly keep still during the intermissions.

The affair was a success financially as well as socially and well paid those who were venturing to get up such a party during these days of wartime.

PHILIPP URGES NEED OF BUYING PROPERTY FOR THE UNIVERSITY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., June 20.—Governor Philipp sent a special message to the assembly last night asking for the passage of the bill for land and an infirmary at the University of Wisconsin. The message was occasioned by the defeat of these bills after a sharp fight led by Assemblyman Rosa and Carl Hanson on Tuesday morning. Motions for reconsideration have been entered and the bills will probably come up for final consideration either Wednesday night or Thursday.

"I am in full accord with the proposition that we should not purchase any property that is not absolutely necessary for the successful operation of our public institutions," said Governor Philipp in his message. "However, the building located on the second Raymer property has for some years been used as an infirmary by the university, and, as matters now stand, the university will probably be unable to secure a renewal of an option for purchase, and will at the same time lose the use of the building."

"The loss of the control of this property leaves the university without a building to use as an infirmary, and there will be no place where students may receive medical attention unless they go to the public hospitals, which are usually overcrowded. I feel that the state is in duty bound to care for the sick at the university and that some provision must be made to enable the management to do its duty in this respect. If you do not desire to purchase the Raymer property and to continue to use the building located thereon for hospital purposes, it seems to me that you should make provision for the immediate construction of an infirmary upon the university grounds and appropriate a sum sufficient for that purpose, and authorize the central board of education to rent a building that is suitable until the new building is completed.

"The fall session of the university begins in September, and it will be necessary to make arrangements for temporary quarters for at least a year. Whatever your conclusion may be in this matter, I will ask you not to fail to make suitable arrangements that will enable the management of the university to give the students and their parents the assurance that hospital facilities have been arranged for."

On Tuesday the bill to appropriate $45,000 for the Raymer property was defeated, 44 to 34. The bill appropriating $60,000 for an addition to the infirmary was defeated 4 to 31. Sentiment around the assembly chamber today would indicate that an appropriation may be made for the building.

ASSEMBLY'S ACTION ENDS THE WRANGLE OVER WAR MESSAGE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., June 20.—The assembly on Tuesday evening closed the final chapter on the plan to print copies of President Wilson's war message. By a vote of 51 to 12 it killed the Wilcox resolution calling for the printing of the message. The motion was made by Assemblyman Charles D. Rosa of Beloit. He said that the use of the resolution, had passed. Assemblyman Duffy, Bayfield, asked for a full explanation. Assemblyman Rosa said that the original Wilcox resolution had been tabled in the house. A bill was then presented in the senate for printing 50,000 copies of the message and to take care of the expense. Rosa offered an amendment to increase this to 100,000. When the bill was returned to the senate the senate concurred in the Rosa amendment, but offered a preamble rider declaring the causes of the war. The assembly then rejected this preamble without a roll call. The senate asked for a conference on the conference. This was refused and the refusal operated under parliamentary rules to kill the bill.

"So the resolution before us can accomplish nothing," said Assemblyman Rosa. "The bill to take care of the expense has been disposed of in the senate. The women of the state have meantime circulated 150,000 copies of the message. Since there can be no possible good in passing the resolution it should be taken from the table and non-concurred in." By a large vote the assembly took the resolution from the table. Assemblyman Edwards of Waukesha asked for a roll call. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 51 to 12. This closed the chapter. It was over this resolution that Senator Raguse made the statements that resulted in his expulsion from the senate. The assembly disposed of a number of duplicate bills at the session and concurred in a senate resolution to hold a joint meeting this afternoon to discuss the workmen's compensation bill.

SOLDIERS EXEMPTED FROM CIVIL ACTIONS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., June 20.—Governor Philipp has just approved the bill protecting persons in the military service of the country from the prosecution of civil actions. A similar law was enacted during the Civil war. The bill provides that all persons, residents of Wisconsin, now in the military service of the United States or of this state, and all those who may hereafter enlist or be drafted for the purpose of the present law, shall during such service be exempt from all civil process. The law further provides that in all civil cases now pending against such persons in such proceedings, the proceedings shall be continued in the state until the discharge of such person from such person, but that such exemption or stay shall in no case extend or be extended for more than three years from the time of the mustering of such persons in to service. It is made the duty of any court or judge and of any justice of the peace to dismiss suits brought against persons in the nature of civil action while such persons are engaged in the service. The bill provides that persons shall furnish affidavit or information from the muster rolls in the state showing that they are engaged in military service. (The provisions of the bill, however, do not extend or apply to persons who are prosecuted as executors or administrators of estates or for debts created in fiduciary capacities.) The bill is exempt from the service of a civil process under the provisions of this section, shall not be taken as any part of the time limited by law for the commencement of any civil action in favor of or against any such person," declares the statute. This provision means that the statute of limitations does not run against the claim held by a person against a soldier.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Viola Dana, the winsome young star has been appearing in public practically all her life. And that is not so very many years, either, as little Viola is but eighteen now, incidentally being the youngest legitimate star in the silent drama. She has proved a marvel since she began appearing in so many difficult roles in motion pictures, but before her advent into them she was known from coast to coast for her remarkable performance in "The Poor Little Rich Girl." This play ran for more than two seasons on Broadway. Miss Dana's first appearance was as a solo dancer when she was five years old. As a tiny mite of a girl she was in constant demand as a dancer and appeared in fancy and toe dancing on several notable occasions. This attracted her to the stage and one of her first parts was in Ibsen's "When the Dead Awake." Later she had the important role of "Little Hendrick" in "Rip Van Winkle," playing with Thomas Jefferson for three seasons. Miss Dana's first work in pictures was in "Molly, the Drummer Boy," which she has been starring in "The Flower of No Man's Land," "The Light of Happiness," "The Gates of Eden," "The Threads of Fate," "The Moral Sin," "God's Law and Man's," "Lady Barnacle" and "Aladdin's Other Lamp." She was born in Brooklyn and has lived in New York practically all her life. Two of her sisters are also in motion pictures. Edna Fluegrath and Leonie Fluegrath.

LUTHERANS OF U. S. MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., June 20.—The largest body of Lutherans in America gathered here today in triennial convention.

More than 800 delegates, including pastors, teachers and laymen, held opening exercises at beautiful Trinity church at 10 o'clock today. They represent the synod of Missouri, Ohio and other mid-western states. This synod is easily the largest of the many Lutheran church bodies of America.

Organized at Chicago, Ill., in 1847, by a few pastors and congregations, it now has fully a million souls. Two thousand five hundred pastors have charge of approximately 4,000 congregations and preaching stations. About 1,000 male teachers and 350 female teachers are active in the church schools. Concordia seminary at St. Louis, Mo., has an enrollment of nearly 350 theological students. Another large theological institution is located at Springfield, Ill. The Concordia Teachers' college at River Forest, Ill., is the synod's oldest and largest institution for the preparation of teachers for work in the church schools. In all true sense, fifteen seminaries and colleges. Besides those mentioned, seminaries are maintained at Seward, Neb. and Porto Alegre, Brazil, and colleges at Fort Wayne, Ind., Milwaukee, Wis., St. Paul, Minn., Bronxville, N. Y., Concordia, Mo., Winfield, Kas., Conover, N. C., New Orleans, La., Portland, Ore., and Oakland, Cal.

This convention will be an unusual one because of the fact that the synod's official celebration of the four-hundredth anniversary of the Reformation will be observed during this time.

The opening exercises were held in Trinity Lutheran church this morning. The third vice-president of the synod, the Rev. J. Hilgendorf of Omaha, Neb., delivered the address. About 800 delegates, including pastors, teachers and laymen, handed in their credentials immediately after these exercises. Daily exercises will be held in the large Plankinton hall of the Auditorium. The Rev. F. Protenhauer of Chicago, the president of the synod, will preside, assisted by the vice-presidents, the Rev. J. Miller of Fort Wayne, Ind.; the Rev. P. Brand of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Rev. J. Hilgendorf of Omaha, Neb. Prof. R. D. Beldermann of Springfield, Ill., will act as secretary. About 100 committees have been appointed by the president to submit reports of many vital questions, such as home missions, foreign missions, schools, college, church extension fund, young people's work, revision of the synodical constitution, pension fund, finance, statistics, etc.

More than 900 delegates will dine daily in Market hall of the Auditorium, the local congregation defraying all expenses of harboring the convention.

Among many of the special church services during the convention those of Sunday, June 24, will stand out prominently. On that day there will be special morning services in each local church affiliated with the synod and in the afternoon and evening there will be jubilee service commemorating the four-hundredth anniversary of the Reformation. In the main hall of the Auditorium, seating about 8,000, Prof. W. Kohn, Chicago, will be the German speaker of the afternoon, while Prof. F. Bente, St. Louis, will deliver the English address. Children's choruses of 1,100 voices and male choruses of 400, both assisted by orchestra, will sing. In the evening service, the Rev. H. Haake, Chicago, will speak in German, and Prof. D. W. Bromville, Bronxville, N. Y., in English. A large mixed chorus will give special music in this service. There will be congregational singing in both afternoon and evening services.

A committee on arrangements has been active for many months and many events are planned for the entertainments of the delegates, a number of whom, it is thought, will find Milwaukee an ideal convention city.

TRENCH TALES.

"We were holding a line of German trench one day," said an Irish infantryman, "and the British counter attacked pretty heavily. We'd been told the position was important and we stuck to it for all we were worth, but after a bit our bombs and ammunition began to run out. One of the men was sent back to get help. He found an officer of the battalion further back, who was so knocked out he could hardly move. The man saluted and told how things are. 'You've no more bombs?' says the officer. 'Half asleep.' 'No sir.' 'No more rifle ammunition?' 'No sir.' 'Well then,' said the officer, 'Swank them.' 'Yes sir,' says the man, and he gave a salute and hurried back to the trench. We swanked them alright and held on until we were relieved. That's the only case I ever heard of where a company ran out of ammunition. You'd think that with the quick way we go forward there would be lots of cases, but it's marvelous how every thing follows up in advance nowadays. The guns are up in quick time, the transport keeps the rations and ammunition up to scratch, the pioneers and labor companies get busy on the captured land almost as soon as we've passed over it. I tell you the thing works like magic."

The Real Adventure

A NOVEL

By Henry Kitchell Webster

(Copyright 1916, The Dobbis-Merrill Company)

"Why, of course he's told me," Rose said a little bewildered. "He can't help telling me all the time, any more than I can help telling him. We're—rather mad about each other, really. I think he's the most wonderful person in the world, and—she smiled a little uncertainly—"he thinks I am. But we've tried to be sensible about it, and think it out reasonably. He said he couldn't guarantee that we'd be happy; that no pair of people could be sure of that till they'd tried. But, he said, it looked to him like the most wonderful, magnificent adventure in the world, and asked if it looked to me like that, and I said it did. Because it's true. It's the only thing in the world that seems worth—bothering about. And we both think—though of course we can't be sure we're thinking straight—that we've got a good chance to make it go."

Even her mother's bewildered ears couldn't distrust the sincerity with which the girl had spoken. But this only increased the bewilderment. She had listened with a sort of incredulous distance she couldn't keep her face from showing, and at last she had to wipe away her tears.

At that Rose came over to her, dropped on the floor at her knees, and embraced her. "I guess perhaps I understand, mother," she said. "I didn't realize—you've always been so intellectual and advanced—that you'd feel that way about it—be shocked because I hadn't pretended not to care for him, and been shy and coy"—In spite of herself, her voice got an edge of humor in it—"and a startled fawn, you know, running away, but just not fast enough so that he wouldn't come running after and think he'd made a wonderful conquest by catching me at last. But a man like Rodney Aldrich wouldn't plead and protest, mother. He wouldn't want me unless I wanted him just as much."

It was a long time before her mother spoke, and when she did, she spoke humbly—resignedly, as if admitting that the situation was beyond her powers.

"It's the one need of a woman's life, Rose, dear," she said, "the cornerstone of all her happiness, that her husband, as you say, 'waits' her. Doubt it is the one thing that will have the power to make her bitterly unhappy. That's why it seems to me so terribly necessary that she be sure about it before it's too late."

"Yes, of course," said Rose. "But that's true of the man, too, isn't it? Otherwise, where's the equality?"

Her mother couldn't answer that except with a long sigh.

Ever since babyhood, Rose had been devoted, by all her mother's plans and hopes, to the furtherance of the cause of women, whose ardent champion she herself had always been. For Rose—not Portia, was the devoted one.

The elder daughter had been born at a time when her own activities were at their height. As Portia herself had said, when she and her two brothers were little, their mother had been too busy to—luxuriate in them very much; and, during those early, and possibly suggestive years, Portia had been suffered to grow up, as it were, by herself.

She expected Rose to marry, of course. But in her day-dreams it was to be one of Rose's converts to the cause. Certainly Rodney Aldrich, who, as Rose outrageously had boasted, rolled her in the dust and trampled all over her in the course of their arguments, presented a violent contrast to the ideal husband she had selected. Indeed, it would be hard to think of him as anything but the rock on which her whole ambition for the girl would be shattered.

That night, during the process of getting ready for bed, Rose put on a bathrobe, picked up her hairbrush, and went into Portia's room. Portia, much quicker always about such matters, was already upon the point of turning out the light, but, guessing what her sister wanted, she stacked her pillows, climbed into bed and settled back for a chat.

"I hope," Rose began, "that you're really pleased about it. Because mother isn't. She's terribly unhappy. Do you suppose it's because she thinks I've—well, sort of deserted her. In not going on and being a lawyer—and all that?"

"Oh, perhaps," said Portia, indifferently. "I wouldn't worry about that, though. Because really, child, you had no more chance of growing up to be a lawyer and a leader of the 'cause' than I have of getting to be a brigadier-general."

Rose stopped brushing her hair and demanded to be told why not. She had been getting on all right up to now, hadn't she?

"Why, just think," said Portia, "what mother herself had gone through when she was your age: put herself through college because her father didn't believe in 'higher education'—practically disowned her. She'd taught six months in that awful school—remember? She was used to being abused and ridiculed. And she was working hard enough to have killed a camel. But you!"

"Why, lamb, you never really had to do anything in your life. If you felt like it, all right—and equally all right if you didn't. You've never been hurt—never even been frightened. You wouldn't know what they felt like. And the result is..."

Portia eyed her thoughtfully. "The result is," she concluded, "that you have grown into a big, splendid, fearless, confident creature, that it's perfectly inevitable some man like Rodney Aldrich would go straight out of his head about. And there you are!"

A troubled, questioning look came into the younger sister's eyes. "I've been lazy and selfish, I know," she said. "Perhaps more than I thought. I haven't meant to be. But... do you think I'm any good at all?"

"That's the real injustice to it," said Portia; "that you are. You've stayed big and simple. It couldn't possibly occur to you now to say to yourself: 'Poor old Portia! She's always been jealous because mother liked me best, and now she's just green with envy because I'm going to marry Rodney Aldrich!'"

She wouldn't stop to hear Rose's protest. "I know it couldn't," she went on. "That's what I say. And yet there's more than a little truth in it, I suppose. Oh, I don't mean I'm sorry you're going to be happy—I believe you are, you know. I'm just a little sorry for myself. Here I stay, grinding along, wondering what it's all about and what after all's the use... While you, you baby! are going to find out."

Portia began unpacking her pillows. "Open my window, will you? There! Now, kiss me and run along to by-by! And forget my nonsense."

The wedding was set for the first week in June. And the decision, instantly acquiesced in by everybody, was that it was to be as quiet—as strictly a family affair—as possible. Indeed, the notion of even a simple wedding into the Aldrich family left Portia rather agnostic.

But this feeling was largely allayed by Frederick's first call. Being a celebrated beauty and a person of great social consequence, didn't it appear, prevent one from being human and simple-mannered and altogether delightful to have about. She was so competent, too, and intelligent (Rose didn't see why Portia should find anything extraordinary in all this. Wasn't she Rodney's sister?) that her conquest of the Stanton family was instantaneous. They didn't suspect that it was deliberate.

Rodney had made his great announcement to her, characteristically, over the telephone, from his office. "Do you remember asking me, Freddy, two or three weeks ago, who Rosalind Stanton was? Well, she's the girl I'm going to marry."

She refused to hear a word more in those circumstances. "I'm coming straight down," she said, "and we'll go somewhere for lunch. Don't you realize that we can't talk about it like this? Of course you wouldn't, but it's so."

"Well, that all sounds exactly like Rodney," he commented. "I hope you'll like the girl!"

"That isn't what I hope," said Frederick. "At least it isn't what I'm most concerned about. I hope I can make her like me. Rodney's the only brother I've got in the world, and I'm not going to lose him if I can help it. That's what will happen if she doesn't like me."

As it happened, though, she forgot all about her resolution almost with her first look at Rose. Rodney's attempts at description of her had been well-meaning; but what he had prepared his sister for, unconsciously of course, in his emphasis on one or two phases of their first acquaintance, had been a sort of slatternly Amazon. But the effect of this was, really, very happy; because when a perfectly presentable, kind, well-bred, admirably poised young girl came into the room and greeted her neither shyly nor eagerly, nor with any affectation of ease, a girl who didn't try to pretend it wasn't a critical moment for her, but was game enough to meet it without any evidences of panic—when Frederick realized that this was the Rose whom Rodney had been telling her about, she fell in love with her on the spot.

Amazingly, as she watched the girl and heard her talk, she found she was considering, not Rose's availability as a wife for Rodney, but Rodney's as a husband for her. It was this, perhaps, that led her to say, at the end of her leave-taking: "Rodney has been such a wonderful brother, always, to me, that I suspect you'll find him, sometimes, being a brother to you. Don't let it hurt you if that happens!"

Don't Let Soap Spoil Your Hair

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain mul-sified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and costs the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Dinner Stories

Little Joseph has recently taken up the study of physiology, which he found so interesting that he was eager to apply its teachings in his home. Particularly as regarded the daily food, Joseph was inclined to condemn or approve uncompromisingly from his physiological standpoint. One evening his aunt was serving some fresh apple cider, when Joseph's uncle jokingly said: "How about this cider being good for us, Joseph?"

"The boy, looking very serious, replied: 'I don't think it is very good for us, Uncle William, for our physiology says cider contains 10 per cent alcohol."

"Is that so?" said Uncle William. "Well, how can you explain the case of our neighbor, Mr. Jowles, who raised a great many apples, made cider and yet lived to be ninety-four years old?"

Little Joseph felt his pet study was being severely assailed, and it was necessary for him to defend it with a clinching argument, so, with quivering lips, he stammered: "Well, I'll bet he wasn't very healthy when he died!"

After much deliberation he went to an insurance office and stated that he wanted to take out a life insurance policy.

"Among a thousand and one other questions the agent finally asked him: 'Do you motor?'"

"No."

"Do you cycle?"

"No."

"Do you, then, perhaps, fly?"

"No, no," replied the applicant, laughing, "I have no dangerous

"Sorry, sir," interrupted the agent, curtly, "but we no longer insure pedestrians."—Puck.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

JUST THINK, PAID AFTER ALL THESE YEARS!

PUMPS

In the cities, water is H-2-O.

In the cities they have all the conveniences for living, but no life.

Water comes in a pipe installed by a pirate plumber. In the cities water is sustaining; in the country, it is entertaining.

In the country water is full of flavors, but it is full of music. It surges itself out of a spring or whoops itself out of a pump.

Pumps! In the city—plumbing! In the country—pumps!

In the country, pumps are personalities. Rusty iron pumps that put a sprinkle of rust into every cup of water. Wooden pumps with green, damp, moldy, and stinky pumps that sing a siren symphony. Not plumbing—but pumps!

Pumps comment. They opine. Pumps are country cabaret.

And sometimes—pumps die—deaths—like people. And stand dead and limp—their own monuments—and people give them a drink of their own water to bring them back to life—and it works for a while—then the pumps die dead.

After a life of service—of ministration—they die dead—of overwork—of exhaustion.

And people are sad.

And, after a while, comes a new red pump—a new iron pump from the city, with improvements—but something is missing. It takes years of service for a pump to get a soul—and bright red paint and modern improvements mean very little to a country pump.

Patterson, N. J.—"I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me well and healthy. Some time ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the above-said ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles as they did me."

Amazing Power of Bon-Opto

To Make Weak Eyes Strong

Doctor Says It Strengthens

Eyesight 50 per cent in One

Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have

Filled and Use at Home

Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing any they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me."

A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days, everything seems clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes, which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years, both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the type-writing on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully helped by the use of this prescription at home. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bubble the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. It is constituted ingredients well known to eminent eye specialists and wisely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or burning glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, burning eyes, red tide, blurred vision or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto, related to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an efficient preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any drug store and is sold in the U. S. by People's Drug Co., and other druggists.

Mary Block was born at Hennessey, Scotland, May 28, 1843, and came to this country sixteen years later. When she was twenty-one years of age she was married to Alexander Paul, the ceremony taking place at the home of David McLean on Rock Prairie. The young couple started housekeeping on their farm in the town of Fulton and fifty years ago this spring moved to their farm here, where the balance of her life had been spent, the first twenty-six years the true helpmate to her husband, until his death in 1879, and the balance in loving service to her family, kindly, neighborly helpfulness to all, and a sturdy loyalty to those who were privileged to enjoy her more intimate friendship.

Seven children were born to this happy union, five of whom survive and who were all present when she was called to the higher life. They are: Mrs. Margaret Owen, John A. William, Mary L., and Alexander M. Paul who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. ## WHAT WISE MEN ADVISE:

Andrew Carnegie said, in speaking to a gathering of young men in Chicago: "There is no doubt but that real estate is the best investment for small savings, it is bound to grow and grows into money. When you buy real estate you are buying an inheritance."

Ex-President Cleveland said: "I always advise my young friends to place their savings in realty near some growing town. There is no such savings bank anywhere."

Buy real estate; buy it cautiously and carefully. Invest discreetly. Don't exaggerate your power to pay. Keep well within your means. Buy for a home, and where you buy to build, buy if you can a few extra lots. These you can use for gardens, chickens and other useful purposes, later their increased value will give you prosperity, or a site for your children's homes, when they marry. Paying for land on installment, IF YOU KEEP WITHIN YOUR MEANS, compels economy, gives an object in life. Your chance is NOW. It is just as easy to make money in real estate TODAY as it was fifty years ago, and the profits come more quickly. Buy good land and then hang on to it.

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN, Do you realize you are throwing away every week enough to buy a couple of these lots? START TODAY. You will never miss the money and will put your savings where they are safe and sure. Avoid the high cost of living by buying one or more of these lots and raise your own living or sell the produce and pay for your lot or lots.

DO NOT PUT IT OFF. ACT AT ONCE! COME AND SEE!

KEEP IN MIND, these lots will not last long at these terms and prices. The number is not large. See them for yourselves and investigate our contract.
